AX EXEMPTION ON SECURITIES CAUSE OF FIGHT

Resolution Prohibiting Issue Passed by House

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—The resolution proposing an amendment to the constitution which would prohibit further issuance of tax-exempt securities as adopted tonight by the house.

The proposal which had been rejected by President Harding and Secretary Mellon was put thru after an unusually bitter all day struggle, by a margin of seven votes. Passage of the resolution required a two-thirds vote and the roll call stood 223 to 101.

Republicans opposing it split about even, 23 Democrats joining administration leaders while 24 Republicans broke away from party lines and voted against it.

The measure now goes to the senate but some house leaders privately expressed the opinion that there was not much chance of its enactment at this session.

Amendments were offered by the score but they were knocked out with little ceremony, after a half hour fight over the improper use of a couple of commas in the text of the resolution.

Finally the commas went out on the chance that the senate might put them back if needed to get a clear interpretation as to what the house meant.

Representative Green of Iowa, ranking Republican on the ways and means committee who drafted the proposal and Representative Garner of Texas, ranking Democratic committee member took charge of the fight for the two sides. The argument swung around the oft repeated statement that the measure was designed to prevent the rich man seeking a tax free haven and that it was an invasion of the right of the states to control their own "credit."

The principal fight was over Mr. Garner's amendment which explained designed to prevent the levying of a prohibitive tax on state bonds or the imposition of a higher tax on income from state bonds than that levied on income from other sources. Without discussion the house refused to exempt federal farm loan and joint stock land bonds.

Building of Levees Cause of Damage

(By The Associated Press)
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Jan. 23.—Flood damage at Beardstown and other points along the Illinois river last spring was caused largely by the construction of levees by drainage districts for the reclamation of overflowed lands according to a report to Governor Small made public today by W. L. Sackett, superintendent of the division of waterways.

Back water from the Mississippi and diversion of water from Lake Michigan by the Chicago sanitary district also were contributing causes the report stated.

Warning that greater floods may be expected if present conditions continue was reported by Mr. Sackett.

"Floods as great as that of 1922 must be looked for approximately once in 10 years; great floods may be expected at longer intervals," said the report. "As additional lands are reclaimed and greater restrictions are placed on the discharge of water from the streams, higher flood stages may be looked for if the flood protections of the streams are encroached upon as seriously in the future as they have been in the past."

The report suggests that flood heights can be lessened by moving levees back farther from the river banks; removing islands from the channel of the stream; clearing islands and shoals; lands of timber and underbrush; using some of the present levee districts and constructing others for use as reservoirs to be filled when floods reach the danger line, and construction of reservoirs on tributary streams.

CAPTAIN SKIPWITH IS BROUGHT INTO HEARING TUESDAY

Asked Phone Operator Not to Handle Calls From Mer Rouge

(By The Associated Press)
BASTROP, La., Jan. 23.—The name of Captain J. K. Skipwith, exalted cyclops of the Morehouse Parish Ku Klux Klan, again figured prominently in testimony given today at the state's open hearing into operations of masked men in the parish which culminated August 24 in the kidnappings of Watt Daniel and T. P. Richard of Mer Rouge, whose bodies were found December 22 in Lake Lafourche.

Miss Lillian Wellman, a telephone operator in the Bastrop exchange, testified that Captain Skipwith had requested her not to handle any calls between Bastrop and Mer Rouge either outgoing or incoming, but an effort by the state to set the date of the request as August 24 failed.

Miss Wellman apparently was very nervous as she took the stand and her replies were delivered in a low tone.

After being asked if she remembered anyone having come into her office to talk with reference to her sending or receiving messages, she said, at first, she did not.

"You don't remember if it was on the 24th of August?"

"No, sir."

"Well, what is it you do remember, Miss Wellman?"

"I don't know."

"You don't remember anything? You don't remember anybody coming to your office and telling you not to send any messages or to receive any messages over your wire?"

"Yes, sir."

"Well, who was it that told you that?"

"Captain Skipwith."

"Now, would you be kind enough, Miss Wellman, to say exactly what it was that Captain Skipwith said, as well as you can remember?"

"Just asked me would I not take any calls to or from Mer Rouge."

"And did you refuse or yield to that request?"

"I just went on with my work. I didn't say anything."

"Did he say anything further?"

"No sir."

Miss Wellman previously had explained that Mer Rouge is on a direct line with Bastrop. The kidnapping of Daniel and Richard occurred on the Mer Rouge highway just beyond the corporate limits of Bastrop and witnesses have testified that the telephone wires at the scene had been cut and were running on the ground. The kidnapping took place shortly before 7 p. m. and the staff of Attorney General Cocco assumes that the lines were severed after Miss Wellman, in effect had refused to holdup calls between Mer Rouge and Bastrop.

Captain Skipwith also was mentioned by Puckett Mason and Roy Broadnax of Gallion, both of whom attended the celebration here on August 24.

FISHER BODY STOCK HAS VIOLENT BREAK

(By The Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—Circulation of rumors in the financial district that the Fisher Body corporation was contemplating the issuance of 100,000 shares of additional common stock and $20,000,000 of six percent debenture bonds caused a violent 38 point break in the stock of that corporation late today on the New York Stock Exchange. The stock closed last night at 230 1/4, advanced this morning to 293 and then dropped to 162. It rallied 16 points before the close making a net loss of 28 1/4 points. Durant Motors of Delaware traded in on the curb also broke badly.

ROBERT W. STEWART IS WITNESS BEFORE SENATE COMMITTEE

Not in Favor of Government Regulation of Any Industry

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Inauguration by the senate oil investigating committee today of its examination of the Standard Oil company of Indiana was marked by a denial of the recently current reports that the Standard company was negotiating for the acquisition of the Gulf Oil corporation.

Robert W. Stewart of Chicago, chairman of the board of the Standard of Indiana was asked concerning the reports in the course of a detailed interrogation as to operations of his company and in reply asserted positively that "there are no negotiations."

Mr. Stewart indicated that his company one of the largest of the Standard corporations would like to acquire the Gulf corporation, particularly a strong oil producing company but said he did not know whether a proposition could be arranged satisfactorily to both and "remains to be seen whether I can get the Gulf to see things my way."

The Standard of Indiana and the Gulf at present are not competing companies.

The examination of the Standard of Indiana, which was conducted today exclusively thru Mr. Stewart consisted in the pre-natal figures as to stock and cash dividends, net earnings and surplus, both before and since the supreme court decree dissolving the Standard Oil company became effective 1911. The figures showed that the Standard of Indiana since its divorce from parent corporation and up to the end of 1922 had paid approximately $85,560,000 in cash dividends, in addition to two stock dividends aggregating 250 percent; that the company from the dissolution to last June 30 had made net earnings of $259,000,000, and that the company's surplus at the end of 1922 was about $143,250,000 as compared with a surplus of $10,216,000 at the close of 1912.

Profits Not Excessive

The profits of the Standard of Indiana were held not to be excessive by Mr. Stewart during an interchange with Senator Brookhart, Republican, Iowa. Senator Brookhart pointed to the list of dividend declarations and of net earnings presented by Mr. Stewart and suggested they be compared with the profits of the farmers in the past two or three years.

Mr. Stewart replying said he did not believe that there is a big business man in the country today who thinks the farmers have received a square deal and that he having been born and raised on a farm, sympathize with the farmers fully but that in his opinion the farmers made more money during the war than the Standard Oil company of Indiana.

"I am not willing to concede," said Mr. Stewart, "that excessive earnings have been made by Standard of Indiana in the past four years, the period during which I have been chairman of its board."

Sentiment here against a move to abandon the station crystallized several months ago in the organization of a committee to save the station.

NO CHANCE FOR U. S. TO HELP IN PRESENT CRISIS

Words Would be Worse Than Useless Officials Say

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—American efforts to be helpful in Europe in the reparations crisis can be predicted only on a reasonable anticipation of success it was reiterated today by an authorized spokesman for the government. There is no present ground for anticipating that any move the United States could make as a benevolent bystander would bear fruit. Words, it was said, whether of protest or in any other form would be worse than useless.

The Washington government fully recognizes the tenseness of feeling, both in France and Germany, that occupation of the Ruhr has produced. It was again declared that the American desire is for adjustment of the reparations payment problem on a sound economic basis. But it is clearly indicated in the reports of American officials abroad that the opportunity for American intervention to smooth out the tangle has not presented itself and that any ill-considered action by the United States at this time might easily arouse enemies that would do harm instead of good and defer indefinitely any chance for American helpfulness.

A clear cut picture of the course of events was drawn to show that there has been no movement since the failure of the cabinet premiers last August to agree on a reparations program when the Washington government might have moved directly with any hope of success.

WILL RETAIN GREAT LAKES TRAINING SCHOOL

Chicago, Jan. 23.—The fight to save the Great Lakes Naval Training Station which during the world war trained thousands of naval recruits was won, according to a telegram received in Chicago today from Representative David L. Goodville announcing that President Harding had signed the bill providing for $250,000 for the station.

Sentiment here against a move to abandon the station crystallized several months ago in the organization of a committee to save the station.

Mr. Stewart will continue on the stand tomorrow.

CANADIAN LABOR MAY BREAK AWAY

(By The Associated Press)
WINNIPEG, Man., Jan. 23.—A plea that Canadian organized labor break away from affiliations with the unions in the United States was voiced today by President W. B. West at the second annual convention of the Canadian Association of Railway Engineers.

"If the labor organizations of Canada stopped sending their dues to the United States and kept them at home," he said, "Canada's unemployment situation each winter would be reduced to a minimum, or possibly wiped out."

Near East Situation Takes Menacing Turn

(By The Associated Press)
LAUSANNE, Jan. 23.—Unsettled as is the general European situation at the present moment it suddenly took a more menacing turn today owing to critical developments in the Near Eastern conference. Turkey refused to accept the British proposal to refer the Mosul dispute to the League of Nations for settlement and Great Britain declined to accede to Turkish counter-suggestions that the question be settled by a plebiscite in the contested district.

Lord Curzon then declared that as foreign secretary of the British empire he would take the responsibility of addressing a letter to the council of the league of nations setting forth forth that a situation had arisen which was liable to disturb international peace and asking that the matter be dealt with under the covenant which provides that the league act when there is war or any threat of war and take steps to restore or to insure the maintenance of peace.

An important American feature of tonight's dramatic meeting was statement read by Ambassador Child outlining the position of the United States.

Mr. Child said that Lord Curzon had indicated clearly that the British government would hold aloof as far as possible from making concessions in Mesopotamia otherwise called Iraq the subject of diplomatic discussion and he declared his belief in the principle that large factors in the world's resources should not become the subject of monopolistic development.

The American representatives were glad to associate themselves with the intent of Lord Curzon's remarks on this subject; they had expressed their government's policy, but neither the statement nor adherence had reference to any particular resource or field of economic activity. Only those who wilfully perverted these declarations had read into them meanings which suited their own political ends.

Ambassador Child continued: "The American representatives feel it their duty to refer to Lord Curzon's specific mention of the validity of the claims of the Turkish Petroleum company and to reiterate the conference that, without seeking special privilege or favor, the government of the United States has not assented to the principle that it may be disassociated in the rights of peace from the usual consequence of association in war, nor in other cases, where another principle is involved, will it abandon its policy of open door."

As for the substantial correspondence our government has accumulated under two successive administrations in the United States, so far as a means to furnish protection to legitimate American interests is at their hands, it does not affect the duty of the American representatives whether the identity of American rights is associated with a commercial or any other American interest.

Mr. Child concluded by saying that Lord Curzon's reference to a certain corporation afforded an opportunity to suggest that there were conflicting claims already in existence concerning legal rights to resources some means should be provided for a judicial settlement of these rights which would give complete assurance of impartiality.

THREE MINERS DEAD; THIRTY OVERCOME BY GAS IN MINE BLAST

Fire Which Started on 1400 Foot Level Still Burning

(By The Associated Press)
SPOKANE, Wash., Jan. 23.—Three unidentified miners were killed and thirty were overcome by gas when fire broke out early today in the 1400 foot level of the Morning mine of the Federal Mining and Smelting company at Mulden, Idaho, seven miles from Wallace, Idaho. The thirty men overcome were hoisted to the 1,000 foot level thru the fire zone to safety and were said to have recovered.

The fire was still burning in the west end of 1400 foot level late today, but mine officials said dampness there would prevent much spread of the flames. All the men in the mine when the fire was discovered had been accounted for, mine officials said.

A report from the Wallace Press-Times said the body of Walter Lee Lynch of Mulden and of a man believed to be Edward Dich, had been recovered and that a third man was missing.

John Anderson was in a hospital suffering from effects of the gas. This report said that Lynch and Anderson went down into the 1400 foot level when the fire was discovered there to warn men at work on that level and were overcome by gas.

The selection of a Republican floor leader in the house was deferred today and further committee assignments may lead to some definite decision upon a leader. The only committee named today was that on contingent expenses.

Four appropriation bills were included in the senate proceedings. One from Senator Dailey, Peoria asking an emergency appropriation of $14,200 for the department of registration and education to enforce the registration of real estate brokers and salesmen. Senator Glackin, Chicago asks for an appropriation of $30,000 to carry on the work of the deepwaterway commission. Senator Wright, DeKalb in his bill would appropriate $12,800 for a federal appropriation for the department of public health for the control of venereal diseases. The remaining bill came from Senator Barr, Joliet, who declares an emergency exists and the division of grain inspection, Chicago needs $12,000.

DISCOVER SOURCE OF FINE WHISKIES

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—An alleged source of Washington's supply of fine whiskey whistles and wines was made known to the prohibition enforcement bureau today police announced. They said they expected the bureau to take up the matter thru the treasury with the state department and that it would act to stop the leak.

The information according to police, was contained in affidavits obtained from John L. Lynch who was arrested in a raid on his apartment last night. Lynch is alleged to have revealed that he was doing a large business receiving orders by telephone and having the wet goods delivered to his customers and that he got many of his supplies from a diplomat's butler. All of his dealings he is said to have admitted were conducted with the butler of an officer of the legion. His lodgers and day books, police said, listed many prominent persons among his "best customers."

RICH HAUL MADE BY BANDITS IN NEW YORK CITY

Four Bank Employees Held up and $50,000 in Cash Taken

(By The Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—Daylight bandits today got $50,000 when they held up four employees of the municipal bank and escaped in an automobile owned by the bank president.

The holdup was staged by four gunmen in a traffic-congested street in Brooklyn. It was the boldest and most profitable of a series of payroll robberies and holdups in the past few days.

The stolen car was located nearly two hours after the robbery on a corner less than a mile from the scene of the robbery.

The holdup occurred when three bank messengers, only one of whom was armed, in company with the chauffeur of Samuel Barnett, president of the bank, were on their way to the borough park branch of the Municipal bank.

The bank machine was proceeding down Bedford avenue with the money packed into two bags. Suddenly a small coupe darted in front of the big car and forced it to the curb. The four bandits leaped from their own car to the bank machine. At the point of revolvers they forced the bank employees to silence and commanded the chauffeur to drive on. They abandoned the coupe, which later proved to have been stolen.

The bank car was directed to a lonely spot where it was halted. The employees were forced from the machine. Then the bandits sped away.

The loss, first reported as only $20,000, was fully covered by insurance, bank officials said. The chauffeur, the chauffeur was held tonight for further investigation by the police.

STANDARD SCALE IS AGREED UPON FOR COAL MINING

Will be Considered by Conference as a Whole Today

(By The Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—A standard scale to be used in fixing union wages and working conditions for bituminous coal miners through the industry was agreed upon today by operator representatives from the tri-state competitive field and officials of the United Mine Workers.

While the agreement was reached in sub-committee and needs ratification by the whole joint conference before it becomes a contract this formality is expected to be disposed of without delay at a session called for tomorrow.

Operators of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, producing about 36 percent of the nation's 500,000,000 annual tonnage, were parties to the agreement which when signed will act as a standard for determining wages and working rules in the remaining 64 percent of mines in other states. Terms were not to be revealed until sixty odd participants in the negotiations have had opportunity tomorrow to decide whether to sign on the dotted line. Under the rules of the conference approval must be unanimous.

The only hint as to the contract provisions came from Michael Gallagher, Ohio operator and joint conference chairman who said there was "no vital departure from the terms of the existing agreement," expiring next April first.

His statement taken with unofficial comment of both sides tonight indicated that the chief provisions were:

1. Extension of the present scale of $7.50 per eight hours for day work and $1.05 per ton for contract miners.
2. The contract to be of one year's duration instead of two years, as the union had sought.
3. Establishment of districts, according to local conditions in outlying fields, of differentials from the basic scale, as well as district settlement of local disputes over working rules, terms and conditions of employment, payment for "dead work" tools, explosives, etc.
4. The demand for a maximum six hour day, five day week, with time and a half for overtime and double time for holidays (including Saturdays) and Sundays was not pressed by the miners it was said although it was on the list of demands submitted last Saturday and rejected by the operators.
5. The six hour day, five day week "was not mentioned" in the sub-committee's progress toward agreement according to labor members.

It was the general understanding tonight that the wariness of the Sherman anti-trust law was not to delay signature of a contract tomorrow.

Altho Washington was said to have refrained from sending the conferees any assurance of immunity from further prosecution it was decided that signature of another contract similar to that named in the indictments would be evidence of the party's innocence of deliberate law violation.

There remained it was indicated that the agreement before being signed would be sent to Washington for the administration's approval.

Condensed Facts of French Occupation

(By The Associated Press)
Many thousands of steel workers in the Ruhr district have put their strike threat into operation in protest against the arrest of Fritz Thyssen.

The mine workers have failed to carry out the orders of the German government and not only are digging coal and sending it to the surface, but are increasing their productive activities.

Meanwhile the railway service is reported to be almost normal. The future action of labor is believed to depend on the outcome of the trial of the German industrialists, which is fixed for Wednesday at Mayence.

The German customs officials at several places are on strike and the French are making arrangements to fill their places.

The French officials report a considerable movement in German troops in German non-occupied territory. The meaning of this is not indicated.

The Italian premier Mussolini is reported to have declared that Italy has made no offer to intervene in the Ruhr situation merely has advised moderation on the part of France and warned Germany of the dangers of reaction.

Isolation of the Ruhr region as threatened by France in case of a general strike is considered not likely to become effective because the Germans must continue to operate the trains in order to bring in food supplies for the population.

will do it simply, unconsciously. —H. Monsell.

For the first time in the history of the United States, all the appropriation bills have been reported by the middle of January. Seven of the nine bills have been passed by both Houses. This is also a new record in speed. This accomplishment has been brought about by a Republican consolidation of appropriation committees in both House and Senate and business-like handling of the work of the committees under the leadership of Congressman Martin R. Madden, and Senator Francis E. Warren, Chairmen.

Prison in America is preferred to freedom in Russia. Three communists who had been convicted of interfering with the prosecution of the war were recently pardoned from Leavenworth prison and were ordered deported to Russia, of which country they are citizens. They have announced that they prefer to stay in prison in this country. They have apparently heard of the experiences of Emma Goldman and Bill Haywood, who, after lauding the beauties of communism were given an opportunity to test out their theories and now wish they were back in the United States.

Aliens who complain of our institutions, or who dislike conditions they find here, cannot reasonably object to an effort to place them in surroundings more to their liking. Deportation is the proper treatment. The United States may not be perfect, but we Americans are fully capable of remedying its defects, without any help from the discontents of Europe.

THE LAW'S DELAY.
There is something in the good book about the increase of crime due to the fact that punishment is too long delayed. The unusual crime wave that seems to be sweeping the nation leads one to wonder whether this scripture applies to the American situation. Certainly the punishment for some crimes committed recently could hardly be too severe; but if it is too long in coming, it will lose its effect.

Unfortunately, American courts do not have any too good a reputation for speed and efficiency. Jurisprudence in this country is centered around the protection of the rights of the individual, which is perfectly in accord with humanity and justice, as long as the individual does not abuse his rights and inflict injury upon his fellows. When there is clear evidence that he has committed such a crime, his rights should be speedily restricted. Justice need not be less sure in America, but more swift in bringing it about should prove a valuable check on the criminal and decrease the amount of crime.

Happiness, and brightness to God's service, is a great gift. We are told to make melody in our hearts to the Lord. How can we do this unless we are bright and cheerful and serve him gladly? You must live the life, not merely do the work. Live a quiet, peaceful life with God, and the work will come out of it. You

MY STARS!
By Berton Braley

(An astronomer has come forth with the theory that stars are the result of mating between masculine and feminine elements in space.)

A COMET whirled through the realms of space
A shining wake behind him,
He traveled along at a dizzy pace
With nary a tie to bind him;
Till once, as the comet went whizzing by,
A gay little Pleiad lamped him,
She winked at him with a bold bright eye,
And gaily indeed she vamped him.

So the comet paused in his headlong flight
To flirt with the gleaming Pleiad,
He found her sparkling and blithe and bright,
And finally asked, would she add
Her starry charm to his speed and force
In an astronomical tether?
"And thus," he said, "we will roam a course
Through the furthestmost stars together."

THE Pleiad nodded a shy assent,
So off on the trail they started,
And over the firmament they went
And never again were parted,
But little comets and Pleiads came
From this joyous amalgamation,
And thus the heavens began to flame
With a brand new constellation!

Business may be a little quiet just now, but by comparison with the same period in other years you will find that conditions are entirely normal.

A late report shows that in the last report there was an increase of nearly three per cent of employment in more than 3,000 industries. This means heavier payrolls and coming at this time of year indicates desirable business activity.

THE UNKNOWN
(NEA)
How would you like to be an arctic explorer? It sounds better from a distance, with the thermometer 60 below zero and death running alongside the dog-sledge, ready to clutch the driver if he yields to fear and discouragement.

As you think of it, it occurs to you that you also are an explorer of the unknown as you go on thru life seeking wealth, romance, adventure, happiness. Whether you make the trip successfully to journey's end depends on your nerve, determination, brain and refusal to be conquered by hardships and obstacles. Like the man on the sledge.

A queer and interesting thing about this explorer. The dogs that haul him are savage brutes, first cousin of the wolves. Armed only with his bare hands, the man could be downed and devoured by any one of his dogs aching with starvation pangs. But the man has a high-powered brain.

That brain enables him to control his pack of half-savage dogs. The brain guides him to his destination as he moves on toward the gorgeous aurora borealis, the mystic lights of the Far North. Brain has given him firearms that enable him to defy all beasts. Brain also supplies him with food in an almost foodless land.

The explorer in the country of eternal snow depends, for his existence, on his brain. So with each of us, exploring the unknown in our daily lives. Brain is your greatest power, and too many of us stop developing it when we leave school.

Man conquers the barren snow country with its frightful cold. The example should be inspirational to us, faced only with lesser hardships and obstacles.

Several weeks ago Mr. Igoe made a long announcement of his intention in this matter and the actual filing was done with as much publicity as possible. The whole procedure indicates Mr. Igoe has political reasons for his action rather than a belief in the righteousness of his cause.

So far as Governor Small is concerned a court decision declared him innocent of the charges that the Chicago man is now reiterating. Charges from the same source filed against State Auditor Andrew Russell are based upon the finding of the election commission of which he is a member and are made before

OLD JACKSONVILLE
THE FIRST RAILROAD
(BY ENSLEY MOORE)
Member Illinois State Historical Society

It need scarcely be stated that the predecessor of the Wabash, known as the Northern Cross, was our first railroad, on which cars were run by steam. But there was a so-called railroad, of which the Rev. Levi P. Crawford, a graduate of Illinois College, in the class of 1848, wrote, in an article in the Lincoln Herald of 1881.

Mr. Crawford was of Southern birth and ancestry, but his father brought him to the neighborhood of Naples in the days when that place was still in Morgan county.

Mr. Crawford became a Presbyterian minister, preached in several places in this state, and finally went to California. He was a very tall young man, who was nicknamed Nimrod, while in College, partly on account of his size, and partly to distinguish him from another student of the same family name, Phineas W. Crawford.

L. P. said, in part, in the Herald article:

"In the year 1836-37, one Charles C. Collins, an enterprising but somewhat visionary citizen of St. Louis took in hand to build a railroad from Naples on the Illinois river to Jacksonville. I am not sure but his plan took in Springfield as the terminus.

Well, the survey was made and the forces gathered to build the road. We began at Naples and threw up the road bed as far as the slough, about two miles east of town, then we put down the ties and laid upon them rails of white oak, six inches square. These were fastened to the ties by hickory or oak pins. Not a particle of iron was used in the construction. In this way the road was built until we reached the slough and that is as far as it ever went, under the corporation of Charles Collins. Upon this railroad there ran but one car, and it was not a locomotive, but a simple four wheeler, drawn by gray horses. Poor fellows, they are dead and gone long ago. Well, the road was finished, as I have said, to the slough, and was in readiness for the grand Fourth of July celebration in 1837. Let me tell you something about that celebration. It was a grand affair. The celebration was held in a grove of 'black jacks' up on a sand ridge in the north west part of the town. The stage was built under one of the trees, the tree being used as a support.

Early in the morning, the people began to gather from all quarters, making a great crowd. There was a cavalry company, I think from Jacksonville, I'm not sure, but think John I. Hardin was the captain. Well, do I remember their gay appearance as they came prancing out on the green where stood the old church, built by the Collins brothers. They came at the call of a bugle blown by a little man dressed in a red suit and mounted on a bay horse. After the company had galloped around for a while, the little man in red with the bugle, got off his horse and came and stood on the platform where the band was. Then they gave us 'Hail Columbia' in grand style. Then some one got up and read the Declaration of Independence. Then the band gave us another tune. Then the orator of the day was introduced. I remember just now as looked—a slender boy without a beard, blushing like a girl and with his knees smitting together like that old Babylonian king's.

Well, I did not know much about oratory then have learned but little since; but I made up my mind that he had done 'first rate,' for a boy; and I think all the people thought so too, for they swung their hats and yelled like Indians. Some of the men on the stage took him by the hand and congratulated him on his success. I remember of hearing some one ask who that boy was. The answer was 'Dick Yates.'

After the speech the great ones went down to the hotel where dinner was prepared for the select few. After there was music, speeches and toasts. I was on the side, but remember one toast given by Gen. Hardin: 'Naples—the great commercial emporium of Illinois. The time is not far distant when she will cover the plain to the Bluffs, which will not be able to confine her, but she will burst the bounds and unite with Jacksonville and they shall become in fact what they now are in heart.' I do not give the exact words, but such was the sentiment. Alas, the prophecy was never fulfilled. Naples had reached her pinnacle of glory on that day.

In the afternoon the grays were put to the car, upon which had been constructed a framework for seating the magnates. The band was put aboard and also the president of the road—I believe—and the orator and a few others and away it sped across the prairie for the two whole miles with banners flying and music filling the air. As I walked home thru the dust, I met the returning excursionists, and it was a great sight—such as Illinois had never before seen. And I venture the assertion that it was the first railroad excursion ever given in Illinois, made on Illinois' first railroad. As I have said, the railroad was never built further than the slough, under the Collins management; for that same year the company which was made up of one man failed and left the laborer in the lurch. Sure am I that I am one of the creditors of the concern still, the last pay that I received was twenty pounds of soap grease, weighed out to me by the boss, after all the laborers had left. This I turned over to my mother, and quit railroadin'.

The Hannibal branch of the Wabash uses the old road bed. If that corporation wishes to confer any favors upon the laborers who built that first road and never got their pay, or if they feel that they inherited the obligations with the property, I would say 'Geltmenen, please send me a ticket for a fre-tride over your road, and you shall have a receipt in full.'

Herbert Vasconcellos, new director of the Jacksonville H-Y club, took charge for the first time last night. The topic for the evening was the self centered man. Interesting topics in relation to the subject were presented by Harold Kamm and Robert LaRue.

The subject of whether the club should organize a basketball team was discussed. Mr. Vasconcellos was of the opinion that as all the members of the club were students at the high school, it would be best for them to devote all their energy to boosting and working for the success of the school team. A vote on the subject was taken and the measure was defeated by a poll of 50 to 2.

Preceding the meeting a fine chicken pie supper was served by the ladies of Westminster church, at which the meeting was held. Last night was the final supper there and next week the club will move to Centenary church.

FARM BUREAU NOTES

We Need More Good Farm Horses — Farm Communities should breed their own replacement stock with a few good ones to sell. Secretary of Agriculture Wallace lists over-production of many farm crops first among six factors in causing the abnormal relationship of farm prices to prices of other goods. The diverting of the necessary feed, grain, roughage, and pasture to grow horses and keep work horses will prevent the dumping of such large quantities of grain on the market. The reduction of surplus thus brought about will do much to prevent ruinous prices for farm products. Selling horse feed and buying other fuel to do the horses' work, not only involves the paying of two freight charges, but crop surplus (which would be created if many farmers were to sell coarse grains) might so reduce the market price as to return to the farmer less cash for the total grain crop than he would have received for the rest left, after providing the grain for his work stock.

Since the use of horses is sound economy and since a large proportion of our work horses are old, unsound, and never were of a desirable type, it would seem that now is the local time to increase the production of the right kind. The prices of really good ones are not so low when compared with present grain prices. If only desirable mares and stallions are mated there need be no fear of over-production. Attention must be paid to individual merit. Some communities have given their horses so many crosses of inferior, unsound, draft stallions, stallions almost entirely lacking in the features which make a work horse useful that it is no wonder farmers are turning to mules and tractors. A good test of a work horse is his ability to stand hard work during hot weather.—J. L. Edmonds, professor of Horse Husbandry, U. of I.

Livestock Shipping Association —We have recently attended the annual meetings of the Rees, Joy Prairie, Murrayville and Woodson associations. They have all shipped more or less livestock with satisfactory returns to their members. There is a feeling everywhere that an association of a local sort, which we have, must reach out and serve a large territory and keep a constant stream of stock going to market. No one is content to list livestock for shipment for any great length of time without he has an opportunity to ship. There is not a point in Morgan county but can ship livestock cooperatively if they wish to do so. The Farm Bureau has made this possible.

A Job for Breeders' Association —Our pure bred association works by fits and starts. One very definite thing they have been to get squarely behind club work and find boys and girls who will take up this work and furnish the livestock to them at reasonable prices. We have some boys in Morgan County who have gotten nicely started in livestock work as a result of the club work fostered thru the agency of the Farm Bureau.

Woodson Shipping Association —In his report Monday, Lawrence P. Fisher, manager of the Woodson Shipping Association, showed that the organization had gotten nicely started in the last five months. They have shipped 45 cattle, 239 hogs, 150 sheep and an average expense of 52¢ per hundred. The shrinkage sheep averaged 5 1-3 pounds; cattle 15 pounds, and hogs 2 pounds. The organization has a membership of thirty. The meeting was held in Colton's store.

New Ideas in Spraying —It has been found that lime sulphur alone is not effective in controlling San Jose scale. Some of our best orchardists are supplementing the regular lime sulphur spray with one of oil applied in the fall. Another new idea is the use of a sprayer to help make a film when the spray is applied. Those of our readers who have tried to spray cabbage to kill the worms will welcome a material that will make the spray stick instead of running off as fast as applied.

Tax Facts —The I. A. A. has furnished this office with figures that show that the county valuation of farm lands has been increased since 1902, 37.64 percent while at the same time town and city lots 1.12 percent. The same board is equalizing valuation has made an increase of 44.53 percent on land and 1.12 on City property. It is also noted that no railway second track was assessed in this county until 1913.

FRANKLIN LEGION TO GIVE BIG DANCE

Extensive Plans Being Made for Dance Next Friday Evening at Olinger's Hall — Other Franklin News.

The third number of the lecture course under the auspices of the high school was given Monday evening at Marquette hall. Scott's comedians furnished a splendid program which the large audience present greatly enjoyed. The course was arranged by the school for the benefit of the library fund and a large number of season tickets were sold before the first number of the course.

The senior class of the high school is already making plans for the annual senior play, and the date will probably be sometime the latter part of next month. The senior class numbers twenty young people and is the largest class the local school has thus far had.

A vaudeville show is being given by a stock company each night during the remainder of the week at Marquette hall.

GEORGE SISLER TO HAVE UNDERSTUDY

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Jan. 23.—George Sisler, who has been voted the greatest all around player in the American league, probably will have an understudy this season, it was announced today. It would be the first time since Sisler became regular first baseman for the Browns in 1918 that a second string first sacker even has been considered, it was said.

Consideration of the advisability of an understudy it was explained, given only after it was believed the injury Sisler suffered to his right shoulder last September, may cause him some annoyance this season in event he strained the shoulder in reaching for a wide throw, or some such manner.

Sisler expressed confidence the shoulder would be in perfect condition when the season opened. He said the shoulder gave him no discomfort except occasionally when he gave it a sudden jerk, as when putting on his overcoat quickly. The shoulder receives daily treatment, he added.

MINNEAPOLIS MAN IN CALIFORNIA GOLF

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 23.—Tom Stevens of Minneapolis, Minnesota's open champion, led the field at Flint Ridge today in the second qualifying 18 hole round of the Southern California open golf championship tournament, bringing in a card of 71-67-143. Three strokes behind him Ernest Martin, Los Angeles professional, Abe Espinosa and McDonald Smith of San Francisco, Eddie Loos of Chicago, and Jock Hutchinson, former British open champion, were grouped for second honors with 146.

JENNINGS SIGNS WITH GIANTS FOR 1923

New York, Jan. 23.—Hugh Jennings today signed a contract for 1923 as assistant manager of the New York Giants, a post he held last year. The Giants also announced that Hugh McQuillan, star flinger obtained last season from the Boston Braves, had signed.

SCOUTS POSSIBILITY OF BASEBALL WAR

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—Scouting the possibility of a major-minor baseball conflict over the draft issue, Commissioner K. M. Landis arrived in New York today on his way to fulfill several speaking engagements in the east the latter part of the week. The commissioner while reticent in his discussion of the controversy which has arisen as a result of the major leagues' decision to attach the draft string to all players released hereafter to minor league clubs indicated his belief that an open break would be avoided.

Shelving of the American league plan to establish zones as a means of curbing "pop fly" home runs at least for 1923, was intimated in the commissioner's statement that no meeting of the joint rules committee, to which the question was referred, has been scheduled for a session to discuss the zoning plan. No joint meeting of the leagues is in prospect, either, he said.

GIVEN WEEK TO RAISE $25,000

CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—Business men of Pueblo, Colo., have been given until next Monday to raise $25,000 for the purchase of the Sioux City, Iowa, franchise of the Western league. President Tearnay announced today.

DEMPEY EAGER TO MEET ANYONE

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—Expressing his eagerness to meet any aspirants for his heavyweight crown, Jack Dempsey and his advance entourage, including the champion's pet pedigreed bull dog, "Diamond Dick, Jr.," reached New York today. Dempsey's manager, Jack Kearns, is due to arrive tomorrow and in the afternoon a conference is scheduled with Promoter Tex Rickard. Rickard said today he would submit two proposals to Kearns and Dempsey, one calling for a match with Jess Willard, probably June 30, and the other with the survivor of a heavyweight elimination series among Floyd Johnson, Tom Gibbons and Louis Firpo, the Argentinian pugilist. The latter contest may occur in September. Dempsey declared he was ready to meet any of these heavyweights as well as Harry Wills, with whom he signed tentatively for a bout six months ago, but ring circles were convinced that no proposition for a match with the negro would be discussed.

Looking fit and weighing, on his own testimony, only 195 pounds close to his best fighting weight, Dempsey declared he would want at least six weeks or two months to get into condition for a championship fight. Asked about offers for a bout with Joe Beckett, English champion in London, Dempsey said he was not anxious to fight abroad.

YANKEE FIVE TO PLAY NAPLES H. S.

Fast Local Quintet Plays Scott County Team in Liberty Hall—Fast Game Is Expected.

The Yankee five basketball squad will clash with Naples high school tonight at Liberty hall at 8 p. m. A good game is expected. While Naples lost recently to Chapin by a good score, it will be noted that two of Naples regulars were out of the lineup. The Yankees will be weakened considerably without the services of Costello, regular center, who is out of the game with an injury to his eye, which is improving and he expects to again be able to play in the next two or three days. The Yankees have been going good lately and expect to again cop of the honors.

The Naples high school will use the following players, Kerans, forwards; Myers, center; R. Davis and Savoi, guards. The Yankees will probably use: Murray, forwards; Blasse or Patterson, center; Pulasky and Cooney, guards.

PROHIBITION OFFICERS DRINK 3 QUARTS OF WHISKEY

(By The Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—How prohibition agents obtain evidence was revealed in federal court today at a hearing on a petition to close the Green Mill Gardens, a widely known North Side cabaret. Miss Laura McClaskey, an employee in the office of the prohibition director testified that she accompanied former prohibition Director Darlymple, a distillery agent named McCann and a party of five friends to the gardens and that the party consumed three quarts of whiskey.

Miss McClaskey who posed as the "countess" when she accompanied "Count" William D. Yazell, a prohibition agent on his tour of Chicago cabarets last July testified to specific charges on which the government is seeking to close the gardens.

Attorneys representing the owners of the gardens asked the court to do something to clean out the local prohibition office.

ILLINOIS COLLEGE LOSES TO EUREKA

Blue and White Tossers Do Better Than Against Wesleyan—Final Score Is 25 to 17.

Illinois College played better in her game against Eureka at that place but not quite good enough to win, Eureka being on the long end of a 25 to 17 score.

At the half way period the score was 8 to 6 in favor of Eureka. During the second period not more than two points separated the teams until the last five minutes of play when Eureka drew ahead and remained there.

Illinois while she showed improvement over the Wesleyan game did not play up to the standard of the games played here against Carthage and Drury. The men were not accurate in basket shooting and for the third successive game Dale failed to score a point.

Inability to toss free throws caused the loss of the game for Illinois. Mellon got five baskets out of fifteen shots from the foul line while Dale tried three and missed all of them. Had half of these been made it would have put the game on the right side of the ledger for Illinois.

Coach Harmon took his squad to Peoria last night where they remained over night. The men will arrive here over the Alton this morning. The score:

ELKS LOSE TO VIRGINIA 30-18

Locals Unable to Stop Virginia's Offense—McDonald and Murray Star for Visitors.

The Elks basketball team lost a game to the Virginia Independents in David Prince gymnasium Tuesday evening, the final score being 30 to 18.

Virginia had an attack that the Elks players seemed unable to solve and immediately went into the lead and was never headed. For Virginia the star playing was done by McDonald and Murray. For the Elks Seymour was the high scorer with a total of seven points.

The visitors displayed better team work than the Elks and also were in better condition for a hard game. The score:

COURT ACTION TO GET DEPOSITIONS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Court action in an effort to get depositions from William J. Burns, chief of the department of justice, bureau of investigation and R. M. Whitney of the American Defense Society was begun today by Attorneys for the 21 communists arrested at Bridgman, Mich., August 22. In contempt proceedings today in the district of Columbia supreme court, Justice Hoehling ordered Mr. Whitney to answer questions put to him by the communists attorney. The decision overruled his claim of privilege as a newspaperman in communications between confidants and he appealed the case. Whether such proceedings will be instituted against Mr. Burns who refused to answer questions yesterday on the advice of the attorney general was said by Frank P. Walsh, attorney for the communists to depend on the outcome of Mr. Whitney's appeal.

DOKAYS DROP GAME TO NEW BERLIN TEAM

Get Away to Poor Start—Fail to Overcome Big Lead and Lose 23-18.

New Berlin, Jan. 23.—New Berlin, playing on the home floor, got away to a fast start, and rolled up 14 points in the first half while the Dokays were helpless, and the Jacksonville team was unable to overcome the handicap in the second half, losing by a margin of five points, 23-18.

Many of the New Berlin points were made on long shots, the locals having their eye on the basket from the center line. The Dokays outplayed them in the second half, the totals being 18-8. A return game is scheduled on the David Prince floor in Jacksonville in the near future, and the New Berlin men have some stiff work ahead of them to repeat. The box score:

PRESIDENT HARDING VIRTUALLY RECOVERED

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—President Harding, declared by his personal physician, Brigadier General C. E. Sawyer virtually to have recovered from the attack of grippe which he contracted more than a week ago, remained in seclusion today at the white house to rest. The usual Tuesday cabinet meeting was cancelled as also was the scheduled meeting with newspaper correspondents. No official papers were sent to the white house for presidential action and no visitors were permitted to see Mr. Harding. Dr. Sawyer said he could not tell at this time when the president would be permitted to return to the executive office.

CHURCH SOCIETY BOUTS STOPPED BY POLICE

(By The Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—A boxing match staged by a church society was stopped by the police of Oak Park, a suburb, despite an injunction halting any interference by the police which had been obtained earlier in the day. The decision of the police to halt the bout came when one of the boxers was lifted bodily in the air for a knockout by a right swing to the jaw. The police then decided that the bout was a prize fight which is forbidden by Illinois laws.

Eddie Anderson of Moline, Ill., and Jack Elle of Chicago and Patsy Flannagan of St. Louis and Jimmy Kelly of Chicago, were scheduled to meet in the main events. They are bantamweights.

Story Concluded

The natural enemies of the pearl oyster causing "widespread death" are shifting sands, voracious fishes, the boring shellfish and the smothering mollusc. A storm arises and buries an immense colony of pearl oysters under several inches of sand, killing them. These various natural enemies, coupled with the greed of man, frequently cause ten or more years to pass when oyster fishing is forbidden by government edict to allow growth. It will be seen, therefore, that never will pearls become "common." They have been a "rare gem" since earliest history and, according to Dame Nature's dictates, must so continue.

GENERAL ALLEN BIDS FAREWELL TO TROOPS

(By The Associated Press)

COBLENZ, Jan. 23.—Major General Henry T. Allen, commander of the American forces, will bid farewell to his men tomorrow morning. "Today at noon," says the bulletin, "the American flag will be lowered on Ehrenbreitstein, marking the end of occupation of the Rhine province by American troops."

"For four years forces of the American army have held a place on the Rhine beside their allies and earnestly striven toward restoring peace under the terms adopted in the treaties. With deep affection in our hearts for our allies and sympathy for our former foes, our highest ambition has been to act with such justice toward all as to insure lasting peace in Europe."

"My instructions to the command with regard to their correct personal conduct and considerate attitude toward the local population have been rewarded. The correctness of your conduct in the general high standards of military efficiency set by the various organizations has made it possible to leave behind an enviable record for justice, fairness, and military excellence."

COMING NEXT MONDAY

That theatre child of New York's Bohemian colony, the Greenwich Village Follies, comes to the Grand Theatre, Monday, Jan. 29. This is the second annual revue of New York's Quartet Lat-in, devised by John Murray Anderson, generally credited with being the most progressive and revolutionary unit in the host of producers of girl-and-music shows. It is not to be confused with the first of these fleet annuals well remembered for the excellent impression it left after its visit here last season. The current "Follies" is a new from beginning to end.

John Murray Anderson, its creator, has an exceptional sense of stage artistry a genuine eye for setting, lighting and coloring and he gives to his productions an imaginative quality that sets them quite above and beyond contemporary spectacles.

In striving for artistry, Anderson does not fail to amuse. No phase of spectacle or musical comedy has been neglected in the "Follies." Comics, dancers and singers there are in abundance. Much of the comedy is subtle satire. Much of it is broad burlesque. The most discussed incident in the Greenwich Village Follies comes with the introduction of the Benda Masks. These artistically designed false faces are regarded as a very noteworthy contribution to the contemporary stage. Twenty famous artists' models, draped in the superlatives of the modiste, form the frame for the antic and comic diversions of the leading personalities, making in all an ensemble of over fifty entertainers.

PARISH MEETING AT TRINITY CHURCH

Reports Made at Annual Session Showed Satisfactory Record—Vestrymen Elect Officers.

The annual parish meeting of Trinity church was held last night. Favorable reports were made from various departments of the church and an election was held. The following vestrymen were re-elected: R. C. Allen, H. M. Andre, C. W. Cornick, J. G. Ames, Walter Bellatti, Charles Fawcett, William Robinson and W. T. Capps.

Later the vestrymen chose the following officers: Senior Warden—H. M. Andre. Junior Warden—J. G. Ames. Clerk—Charles Fawcett. Treasurer—Walter Bellatti. Superintendent of Sunday School—R. C. Allen. Assistant Superintendent—H. M. Andre.

Earlier in the session Miss Fannie Wakely made a report for the Women's Auxiliary showing the successful activities of the year. Mrs. John A. Bellatti as secretary of the Woman's Guild presented a report making reference to the work done for Passavant hospital and efforts put forth in various departments of the church. Mrs. R. C. Allen as treasurer of the Guild was able to report total receipts of $794.15.

The membership was well represented at this annual meeting.

JOINT COMMITTEE IS PROBING STRIKE

(By The Associated Press)

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Jan. 23.—The joint senate and house committee of the Arkansas state legislature named to conduct a thorough investigation into the strike on the Missouri and North Arkansas railroad depredations along the line, the subsequent lynching of a striker and the organization of citizens' committees in Harrison and Heber Springs, Ark., at the hearing tonight settled down to the examination of strikers who had been forced to leave to leave the two towns. Testimony concerned the manner in which the citizens' committees functioned and brought out the names of the members which it had been announced, will be summoned to appear before the committee as they become known. The legislative committee apparently intends to examine strikers and union officials first taking up the testimony to be presented by residents of the points along the railroad later. The first witness examined tonight was Mrs. T. B. Hall of Heber Springs, wife of a striking railroad employee.

Mrs. Hall said she knew nothing of any depredations and that she left Harrison because she was told that the women would be treated the same as the men. She said she heard guns firing and was questioned by a mob. She said she heard some one say: "Shoot her" but did not know the men.

Ura Russell of Heber Springs, formerly a fireman on the Missouri & North Arkansas railroad, testified that he had left Heber Springs because he had "been given his choice of tearing up his union card, renouncing his strike benefits or swearing to be 100 per cent for the Missouri & North Arkansas railroad and joining the mob which had the town under control."

He also knew of no depredations except what he had read in the papers.

T. J. Gardner, a locomotive engineer, said he had left Harrison last November because he had "seen signs of what was coming" and thought it best to go to Heber Springs.

MARINE ENGINEERS SECEDE FROM A. F. OF L.

New York, Jan. 23.—Announcement was made today that the National Association of Marine Engineers had seceded from the American Federation of Labor because of opposition of various A. F. of L. leaders to passage of the ship subsidy bill which the engineers' union favors.

"Let's Not Buy Another Thing Till We Put the Fences Right"

THE far-sighted farmer will say that when temptations arise to let the ready money go for some luxury. The luxury is an expense; the good fence is an investment—a money-maker. A farmer is losing money fast until he has his farm fenced off into a sufficient number of fields to permit of the proper rotation of crops and the most advantageous pasturing of stock.

The fields of a farm are like the rooms in a hotel—the more rooms or fields, the more revenue.

AMERICAN FENCE Made of Hard, Stiff Wire of Highest Quality is an investment that brings the most returns for the money paid out. It is made of a quality of wire drawn expressly for woven-wire-fence purposes by the largest manufacturers of wire in the world. Governed by latest improved processes, the best that the skill and experience of years has taught. Built on the electric bladed-tong (patented) principle, which effectively protects the stay or upright wires from breaking under hard usage.

LEGION TO DEDICATE NEW STATE BUILDING

Local Post Will Hold Elaborate Program When New Soldiers' Home at State Hospital Is Completed in June—Members Extended Thanks to Those Who Aided in Bonus Rush.

At a special meeting of the local American Legion post held last night, a committee was appointed to fix a definite date and arrange for the dedication of the new soldiers' building at the State hospital. It is expected to have this large structure completed by June 30, and the dedication program will probably be given sometime near that date.

A plan is being formed to secure the national commander, the state commander, and other high legion officers and probably state officials for the occasion. The committee appointed to arrange the affair consists of Elmer Henderson, chairman; Col. O. C. Smith, C. Y. Rowe, A. C. Colloff and Mr. Hughes, the last two being representative of the Federal training center and the State hospital respectively.

The meeting Tuesday evening was held especially to transact routine business accumulated during the period when the Legion was busy with the filling out of bonus application blanks. It was voted to extend the thanks of the Legion to all who assisted in the filling out of the blanks. This includes a large number of stenographers, notaries, and others who so generously gave their time in aiding the boys to apply for their bonus.

Following the transaction of the regular business, these present held an informal discussion. It was suggested that the Legion purchase a radio outfit. A plan to open all Legion meetings with appropriate ceremonies, as is done in lodges, met with general approval. The local post now has 118 paid up memberships, a large number of which were secured during the rush of bonus seekers at the quarters. The entire state according to a late bulletin from the Legion headquarters, now has 13,370 members of the American Legion.

Cold weather is predicted for February. Now is the time to provide Winter Sleeping Garments of FRANK BYRNS Hat Store.

ART WEEK DRAWS MANY INTERESTED PEOPLE

Artists Whose Work Is Displayed Are Among Best in Two Fields. Block Prints Interest Children and Lovers of Child Life.

Unusually good attendance during the afternoon session is reported by those in charge of the Art Week exhibit at the David Strawn Art Home this week. The exhibit will be open every afternoon through Sunday and every evening through Saturday, and those interested are invited to visit and revisit the rooms.

The two exhibiting artists are ranked high—in fact, almost unique in their fields. Miss Gertrude Hadenfeldt, whose bright water-color work lines the walls of the west room, has had opportunities to study oriental life granted to no other artist, including a few precious hours in the Forbidden City in China. Miss Helen Hyde ranks perhaps second in Japanese block print work, a type of work that few Occidental artists have studied. Her recent death removed from the ranks of American artists one who took prizes in Japanese art away from contemporary Japanese artists.

The fine quality of the work is not its only appeal, as the vivid coloring and exotic atmosphere of the water colors are obvious enough to please a child—and art, like religion, make children of us all—and the Japanese prints are of such subjects as will bring a smile for any child or lover of children, as they almost without exception treat of episodes in child life.

Although the two collections are exhibited in adjoining rooms, they have as little in common as two oriental exhibits could possibly possess. The one is full of color and richness—the other delicate in tone, minute in treatment, and decorative in design. The one is realistic, the other fantastic. Going from Miss Hadenfeldt's work to Miss Hyde's is like leaving the outdoors and opening a book, returning, the feeling is that of leaving a country garden for the glamour of chasms and cities.

The whimsical character of Miss Hyde's work may be judged by some of the titles, the Moon Bridge, The White Peacock, The Furious Dragon, Over the Garden Wall, and The Daruma Branch. Children in awe of a silver peacock, in fright at the gourd-like daruma or unabashed as the little naked girl in Complaints, standing among crying geese and overhanging darumas and paying not the slightest attention to either. And always a design, whether the flourish of the bridge, the meditation of the furious dragon, or the poster effect of the garden wall scene.

An outstanding feature of Miss Hadenfeldt's work is her variety of technique, surprising in one artist. The Indus in Its Youth, with its realistic liquidity and transparency, contrasts strongly with the dull, massive stone and leaden sky of The Bell of Lonely Spirits, or the rich flat colors like a wall fresco in the study of Card Players. With the dull yellow of barren mountains, the somber silence of a sepi night, the vivid contrasts of oriental luxury, or the lofty mood of distant views, Miss Hadenfeldt is equally at home.

MORGAN COUNTY NEARS HUNDRETH BIRTHDAY

Wednesday January 31st, Will Be Centenary of County's Birth—Journal Will Publish Series of Articles Relating to County History Taken From Records Owned By Frank J. Heint.

The centenary of Morgan county is near at hand. Wednesday, January 31, is the 100th anniversary of the establishment of this county. The D. A. R. and auxiliary organizations have taken some note of the important date. It is not at all unlikely that at a later time the Morgan County Historical society will work out some plan in commemoration of the passage of the 100 years.

The Journal has been fortunate in arranging for a series of articles on themes directly relating to the beginning of this county and of the early days of Illinois. The articles have been compiled from papers owned by Frank J. Heint, whose interest in historical matters relating to this state and to his own country is a matter of common knowledge. Mr. Heint began years ago the collection of histories of Illinois and of general data outside these histories. As a result he has today a valuable collection of historic documents. This series of articles will certainly prove of genuine interest to Morgan county people and will be valuable in giving emphasis to many facts relating to county history not generally known.

The first article which will appear at an early date, will give the facts concerning the act under which Morgan county was organized.

FRENCH REPLY TO GERMAN PROTEST

(By The Associated Press)
BERLIN, Jan. 23.—Replying to the German protest over the shooting of Franz Kowaleki, a hospital attendant, at Langendries, in the Ruhr district by a French sentry last Friday, the French foreign office declares in a communication received today that it "is impossible for the French government to receive a note couched in such terms."

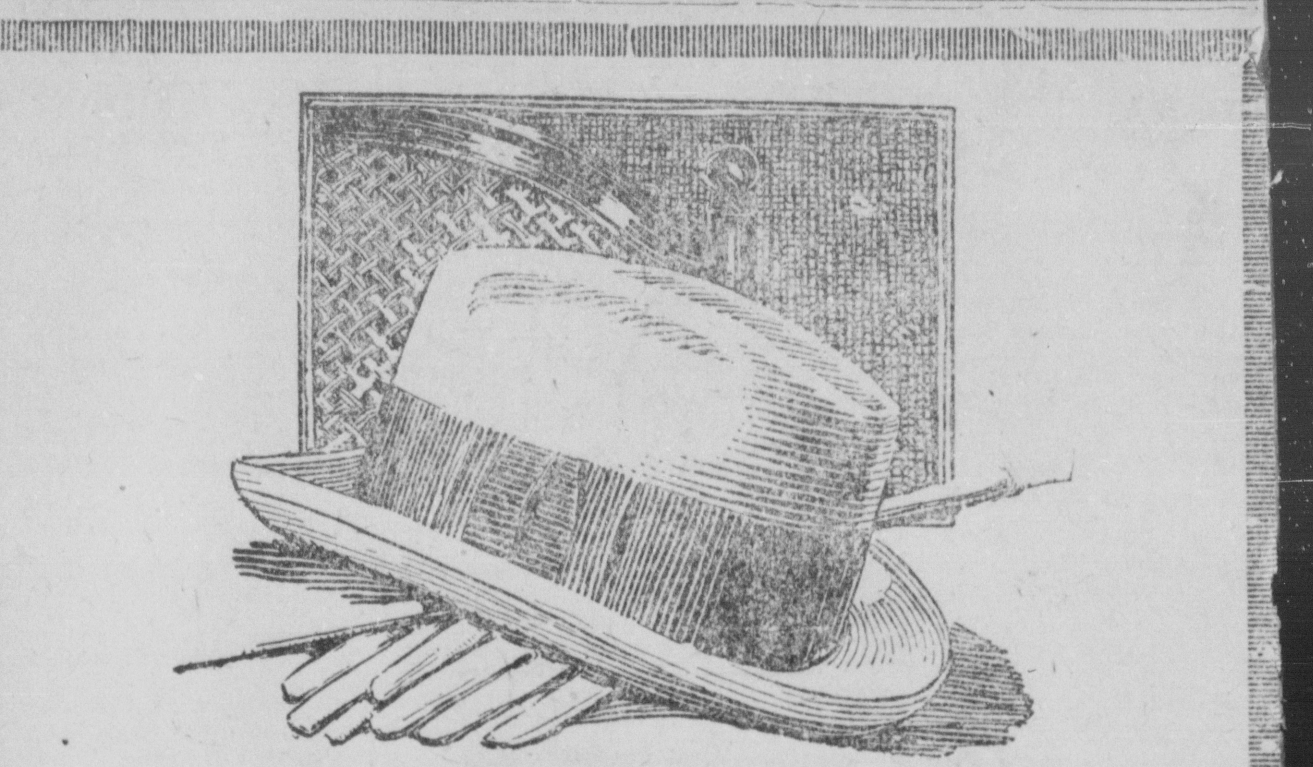

As to the German protest over the arrest of Fritz Thyssen and the other German industrial leaders the reply says all such measures result from infringements of the treaty of Versailles and that the French government reserves the right to take such sanctions as may be necessitated by the attitude of the German government officials or nationals.

Facts Every Motorist Should Know

What do you consider the total mileage an average priced car should deliver?

To what cause have you contributed the lack of mileage you have been able to run your car?

Let us whisper something in your ear about mileage, and how it happens. Here it is—"Scientific Care."

We have two cars in operation today that are more than 10 years old, both of which have seen hard service. 100,000 miles is a low estimate of the mileage each one has traveled. They both have 75% of original equipment in service now.

You may think this is not possible for you to do. You are only fooling yourself and spending your good money to fatten some particular person's pocket book other than your own.

S. W. NICHOLS WRITES ABOUT ARIZONA JUDGE

Tells Interesting Facts Regarding Judge Albert Sames of the Superior Court in Arizona.

The following letter has been written by the Journal by S. W. Nichols, who is now journeying at Tombstone, Ariz. Mr. Nichols gives some interesting facts about Judge Albert Sames of the superior court in Arizona. Judge Sames was born in Rockford, Ill., located in early life in Los Angeles, Calif. Later he went to Arizona and there achieved a name for himself. Mr. Nichols' letter is given below:

Tombstone, Arizona, Jan. 15, 1923.

Dear Journal:
Compared with this territory Illinois is ancient and aged. None of our pioneer settlers are with us today. As I now recollect, Uncle Septimus Stevenson was about the last man living in or near Jacksonville who could remember the famous "Deep snow" of the winter of 1830-1. Here are men not at all aged when the country was new and grew up with it and made records for themselves.

Such a man is Judge, Albert Sames, judge of the superior court of this district. The state of Arizona has a supreme court consisting of three judges and the state is divided into superior court districts, generally by counties, and in each of these is a judge or there are two as may be judged by the population. They are called to reside at all trials within their jurisdiction and they may also be summoned to serve in any part of the state as they may be needed in some other district where the work is too much for the local judge or judges.

Judge Sames was born in Rockford, Illinois, his father being of sturdy Pennsylvania stock and his mother from New York. His father was a manufacturer of agricultural implements for forty years and was a pioneer in many respects, introducing new and improved machinery.

The son was educated in the Rockford public schools, in the University of Wisconsin and the Columbian Law school of Washington, D. C. and at an early age decided to take Greeley's advice and go west. He located in Los Angeles, California, where in various ways he made a living doing some clerical work and following his profession at the same time. Of course the process was slow and he was making a reputation for strict integrity and devotion to business which won for him the esteem of a friend and gentleman who was acquainted in the territory of Arizona. He strongly urged the young attorney to seek his fortune in the territory and recommended him to the management of a large business who wanted a confidential person to take charge of their extensive interests and with some misgivings he accepted an offer and started. His destination was Solomonville, county seat of Graham county, at the head of irrigation of the Gila, pronounced Heela, river. The surroundings were picturesque but the place was about as forbidding as can well be imagined. The weather was hot, dust was flying, the whole conditions were wholly primitive. There was one store building, the court house was an adobe structure used for all sorts of purposes and things were crude in general.

I have known men who have gone west that way and returned on the first train or within a very short time and had young Sames been of different caliber he would have been tempted to do the same thing but he was gritty and determined to see the thing through. This was in 1900 and now Salomonville is an important place. The history of that place would fill a volume with thrillers. One of the men who rose to distinction was Mark Smith, territorial delegate and many more, then obscure, have become noted.

Noted Mexican Bandit.
One greatly noted character of that region was Augustine Chacom, a noted Mexican bandit, with many murders and robberies to his credit. He was twice condemned to hang and both times managed to escape.

Once when he was in hiding he was pursued by a sheriff named Ben Clark. The latter had once befriended the outlaw and while in pursuit entered a canyon on whose border the bandit and his followers were stationed so that in a few moments they could wholly have annihilated their pursuers but when Chacom saw his old time friend Clark at the head of the pursuers he called off his men and let Clark get away unharmed entirely.

But the old saying is "The fox must sleep," and so in time Chacom was apprehended and the authorities determined he should not get away again. He was last taken by Capt. Mossman and company in the mountains in Mexico near the international line. He had many things to answer for and deserved several hangings. He killed Deputy Sheriff Pablo Salcido at Mesquero and many others. He had been especially haunted by an old time sheriff, John Slaughter, a determined foe of evil doers, and tried hard to trap him in a canyon but Slaughter was too sharp for him and managed to live to a good old age dying recently at his home.

Chacom was taken to Solomonville and again sentenced by Judge Doan, well known in this vicinity.

The hanging was a great event. Chacom was a hero in the eyes of his fellow countrymen and had all the bravado of his kind. He went to the scaffold with entire nonchalance and asked for an hour in which to make a speech. He was permitted by Sheriff Parks to talk a while and then was reminded that time was up.

He asked for some tobacco, rolled a cigaret, drank some coffee and then remarked that it was time for the hanging to be pulled off. He asked that the cap be not pulled over his head but that was not permitted. Just before he was placed he said "Adios, Amigos," goodbye friends, and was swung into eternity.

After he had been suspended till life was unquestionably extinct his body was cut down and friends flocked around begging for it. It was given them and hauled it into a wagon they loaded it with and worked for hours in a vain attempt to restore life. He was ever remembered by his countrymen as a great hero and his name is revered by them to this day.

The young attorney, fresh from the city of Los Angeles, appreciated keenly the new novel surroundings. There was near by a settlement of Latter Day Saints and true to their custom, they had made a portion of the land to blossom in the rose.

He was a law clerk, clerk and stenographer for a firm representing a railroad constructed from Bowie to Globe and he had plenty to do. Among the business men of the locality were a few who had homes and families and into these the young stranger was soon hidden welcome.

One evening he had an adventure which he well remembers. He had arrayed himself in his best and had spent the evening at the home of one of the men referred to and enjoyed it exceedingly. Returning the way was dark and of course no street lights to help along and suddenly he found himself floundering in an irrigation ditch.

"Store clothes" were not an article easily acquired by the young man and many an hour he spent restoring the garments to respectability, succeeding very well finally and determined to look out for such places in the future. Hearing of a little town called Douglas just being laid out, he determined to go there and cast in his lot with the place. That was in 1902 when the village had but a handful of houses and was a year old.

Opens Law Office.
He handled the affairs of the town site company, and finally opened a law office of his own. He was city clerk and treasurer and was U. S. commissioner from 1907 to 1913 when there was much agitation along the Mexican border on account of violation of neutrality laws.

While he was serving as commissioner his father died and he brought his mother to be with him and his untiring devotion to her welfare is beautiful. Nothing that can minister to her comfort and welfare is left undone. With her as his companion he made a four months tour of Europe, visiting many places of interest, including Naples, Milan, Rome, Florence and others.

His mother is a highly cultivated lady, a graduate of a Wisconsin university, and one who has had a large part in the rise and success of her illustrious son. He was city attorney of Douglas which rapidly grew to an important city, right on the Mexican border, with smelters and many enterprises making business.

According to the laws of Arizona the increase in population of Cochise county demanded another judge of the superior court. Tombstone is the county seat and the governor appointed Mr. Sames to the position in 1920 and when in 1922 an election took place he stood as candidate to succeed himself and though the district is overwhelmingly Democratic and he a Republican, he was triumphantly elected solely on his personal character as an able, upright judge and all around first class man.

During the years 1910-12 he was chairman of the territorial Republican organization and of the state in 1918-20. He was chairman of the Republican delegation to the national convention in 1920 and loyally stood by Gen. Wood to the last.

He is a member of the Masonic fraternity with degrees of blue lodge, chapter and commandery. He is a member of the Order of Moose and a charter member of the Elks lodge at Douglas and past exalted ruler. He is an eloquent orator and is much in demand at various occasions.

He has one son fourteen years old, a bright young student at the military academy at Alton, Ill. He has a brother, Charles M. Sames, editor of the publication of the American Institute of Mechanical Engineers at West 29th street, New York City.

S. W. Nichols.

OBITUARY

Louisa Arenz Rhea, daughter of Frances Arenz and Louisa Boss, was born at the family home in Arenzville, Ill., June 14, 1837. She received her education at a private school in Crigsville, and was one of the early graduates of the Illinois Woman's college, Jacksonville, Ill. Her father, one of the best known men of his generation, served as a member of the legislature several terms, was one of the first vice presidents of the Illinois State fair, held in Chicago, and in 1852 was sent by the U. S. government as special envoy to the courts of Berlin and Vienna. Their home was the meeting place of many well known statesmen and in this atmosphere, Mrs. Rhea early manifested great interest in affairs of state and county, which was to remain with her all through her life.

On June 17, 1856, she was united in marriage with Henry Yates, brother of War Governor of Illinois, and came with him to found their home in Berlin, Illinois. To this union were born five daughters: Nellie and Grace dying in childhood; Henrietta, preceding her mother in death, seven years; Minnie and Laura. Col. Yates died Oct. 3, 1871, as the result of a wound received during the Civil war.

On Nov. 4, 1880 Mrs. Yates married Thomas F. Rhea, pioneer farmer of Sangamon county, and moved to New Berlin, where she has since made her home. Mr. Rhea died Nov. 30, 1900.

Mrs. Rhea united with the Baptist church soon after coming to Berlin and has ever been a faithful and devoted member, entering deeply into the life of the church as well as into the community.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Francis I. Taylor of New Berlin and Mrs. Warren T. Brown of Anna, Illinois. Nine grandchildren, Mrs. Owen Roberts of Williamsburg, Iowa; Mary, Yates and Helenetta Brown of Anna, Illinois; Nellie, Frank and Harry Taylor of New Berlin; William Taylor of Chicago; and Thomas Taylor of Litchfield; five great grandchildren, one sister, Mrs. T. V. Finney of Jacksonville, Illinois; two brothers, Albert Arenz, Springfield, Ill., and Oscar Arenz, Flat River, Mo.; two stepdaughters, Mrs. Ann Carruthers and Mrs. Kate Langston of Pomona, California, and seven step-grandchildren.

Mrs. Rhea was a frequent visitor and well known by many of the older residents of Jacksonville.

WRITES ABOUT TRIP TO THE SOUTHWEST

Miss Hazel Ray of 428 South East street recently received a letter from her aunt, Mrs. Elizabeth Litter, who is making a winter stay at Tucson, Ariz. Mrs. Litter is finding the southwest country very interesting. Some paragraphs from her letter are given:

This is another pretty sunny day. Last week it was somewhat nippy but there hasn't been a cloudy day since we came, four weeks ago. Two days were spent at Phoenix, seeing places of interest both in that beautiful city and in the surrounding country.

It is an irrigated area, the water coming from the Roosevelt dam. The country was almost tropical in appearance, as we saw orange groves full of fruit and roses in bloom. There are hundreds of acres of cotton there ready to be picked and both Mexicans and Indians were at work in the fields.

At Florence we made an inspection trip to the State penitentiary. Today we made several calls and were at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Willerton, former residents of Jacksonville. They like this country very much and find the climate healthful.

One of our recent trips was to Douglas, where we stayed all night, returning the next day thru Bisbee. What is called the greatest copper mining district in the world is located there. We didn't visit the mines, as the fumes are so strong that a trip to the mines is not very pleasant. At Tombstone we stopped to call on S. W. Nichols but missed him as he was visiting a number of friends.

We have done real mountain climbing and the highest point reached was 6500 feet. To reach this height it is necessary to travel many miles over the mountain roads but they are kept in excellent condition and we found quite a stretch of them paved. The country is not populous and many times you drive forty or fifty miles without seeing a house or living thing, but the roses are nevertheless kept in good condition.

The people here drive great distances and think nothing of it. Almost every big car has a caution fastened on the running board. This includes three receptacles, painted red, blue and gray. One is for oil, one for gas and the other for water. Most Ford cars have what they call water bags hanging from the side.

Our trips have taken us into old Mexico and we have visited Nogales and two or three other of the old cities. We had to pass U. S. officials and get permits to cross. The examinations of baggage are not very strict but every traveler must comply with the immigration regulations.

Certainly there are many primitive things in the life of Mexico. The visitor sees little pack mules laden with wood and the little beasts seem to be about as indolent as the people. On every hand are evidences of the lack of education and in most cases ambition. There are signs too of suffering and most of the women and children seem to lead a dreary life.

Here in Tucson it is said that the population is at least 60 per cent Mexican and it seems to me even more. When at Phoenix we were greatly interested in visiting the Christian church. It is an immense structure with a membership of 2,000 people. All in all, we are thoroughly enjoying our stay in the great southwest.

"READ A PLAY BEFORE YOU SEE IT"

This week is being observed all over the nation as Drama week. Dr. Roy Swain of the Illinois College faculty will deliver a lecture this evening at 8:15 o'clock at the public library. He will take as his subject "Character in the Modern Drama", and the public is cordially invited to attend the lecture.

Following are just a few of the plays which you will enjoy reading: Ervine, St. John The ship. This is a three act play in which is dramatized the antagonism between the father and son. John Thurlow owns the greatest shipyard in the world and has a passion for the ships he builds. He is determined that his son shall carry on his work while the son is equally determined that he wants to be a farmer.

Bennett, Arnold; Love Match, a play in five scenes. This is a little comedy of love in which Hugh Russ and his young wife Nina have one of their periodic quarrels, which alternate with their brief periods of rapture. The play consists of lively dialogues between Hugh and Nina, and has a particularly brilliant opening scene.

Forbes, Edna $1200 a year. This is a lively three act play in which a university professor gives up his $1200 a year position in the university to earn $50 per day in a mill. He immediately becomes popular as a labor leader and lecturer and is in demand all over the U. S. but it is only when he is offered $5000 per week to direct the movies that the man who owns the university as well as the mill is moved to consider an adequate salary for the professor. This play is very interesting to read.

O'Neill, Eugene G. The hairy ape; Anna Christie; The first man. These three plays show the high sincerity, emotional intensity and feeling for human values that make O'Neill's dramas stand out. These are not only entirely pleasant but fascinating to read and see played. They are among the best dramas of the year.

Cohen, H. L. One act plays by modern authors.

SHIP CAR OF CORN TO RIGGSTON ELEVATOR

The first car load of corn to be shipped into Riggsston in a quarter of a century is now en route to that point. 85.77; net gain 67.
High 1822, 93.99; low 73.43.

Bond sales, par value, $11-443,000.

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—Prices in today's stock market opened strongly reacted in the early afternoon and then strengthened again before the close making final quotations irregularly higher. The afternoon reaction accompanied marking up of the call money rate from 4 to 5 per cent, news of the Turkish rejection of the British proposal regarding the Mosul oil fields and a sensational break in Fisher Body Corporation which dropped from 26 to 162 and then rebounded to 172 for net loss of 284
points.

The reaction was halted by rubber shares which accompanied announcement of another increase in the price of crude rubber to 37 cents a pound the highest since the middle of 1920 and more than double the price in the early weeks of last year. There also was a heavy accumulation of railroad shares just before the close as several investment issues gaining 1 to 1 1/2 points.

Trading continued to be largely a professional affair the volume of sales being even lower than that of yesterday which was the maiest full day session since the middle of last August. The extreme dullness made it difficult to ascribe any particular reason for the fluctuation of most prices.

Baldwin and Studebaker again were the most active of the leading industrial firms, the former closing at a slight fractional loss, United States Steel advanced a point and gains of a point or more also were registered by such prominent industrials as American Tobacco, Cruible Steel, Maxwell Motors
"A" and "B," Steel and Tube preferred, United Fruit, United States Rubber and Corn Products.

Woolworth was one of the most conspicuous weak spots dropping to 2 1/4 for a net loss of 1 1/2
points.

No special reason was assigned for the heavy buying of rail shares in the final dealings. Jersey Central advanced five points and gains of one to nearly two points were scored by Baltimore & Ohio, Canadian Pacific, St. Paul, New York Central, Pere Marquette and Union Pacific. Call money opened at 4 per cent and closed at five. Government withdrawals from local banks amounted to $22,500,000 with heavy withdrawals also reported by interior institutions.

The commercial paper market was more active. The bulk of the prime names commanded 4 1/2 per cent.

A brisk rally took place in most foreign rates. Demand sterling advanced 1 cent to 4 1/2, and French checks rose 1/2 points to 83 with more moderate advances in the Belgian and Italian rates.

Except for a drop of 14 cents on $100 in the First 4 1/2 U. S. government bonds were either higher or unchanged the gains ranging from 2 to 6 cents, the highest in the Second 4s which ordinarily are inactive.

KANSAS CITY MARKET REVIEW

Kansas City Stock Yards, Jan.
23.—Cattle—Receipts Monday were the same as a week ago, and 0.000 larger than a year ago.
While the bulk of the offerings was fat steers and cows, there was a number of good stockers and feeders, and short fed steers suitable for a short finish. Prices for stockers and feeders eased off late last week, and while there was improved demand at stronger prices the market was no more than steady with a week ago. Prices for thin cattle now are higher than they were six weeks to two months ago, but when considered that they have taken the full winter shrink from grass price per head is actually lower. Selected feeders both light and heavy, weights, as well as the half fat classes suitable for a short feed are selling at $7.75 to $8.35 good to choice $8.50 to $9.00 and unusually fat, $9.50. Stock feeders are bringing $4.25 to $5.50 stock cows $3.75 to $4.50, and stock calves $5.50 to $7.50.

Hog prices fluctuated within a 25 to 35 cent range, the past week and there was a sharp advance. Quotations Monday were within 5 cents of the high level of the winter packing season, today's bulk $8.50 to $8.50. Packing sows sold at $7.40 to $7.60, and pigs and stock hogs $7.75 to $8.25. Thus for this month 8-500 stock and feeding hogs have gone back to the country or 2,200 more than went out in the entire month of January, 1921.

Sheep and lamb prices advanced 25 to 50 cents, and are at much higher than a week ago.
The bulk of the fat lambs Monday sold at $11 to $14.75, ewes $6.75 to $7.35, wethers $7.75 to $8.50;
and feeding lambs $13.50 to $14.25.

OFFICERS INSTALLED
BY CONCORD LODGES

I. O. O. F. and A. F. & A. M. Have Recently Installed New Officers—Other Concord News of Interest.

Concord, Jan. 22.—Concord Lodge No. 82, I. O. O. F., held an open meeting in their hall on Wednesday night, the 17th. The meeting was largely attended by Odd Fellows, Rebekahs and some men and women not members of the order. Walter Longhary of Baylis was on hand with his radio outfit, and those present listened to splendid music from several distant cities. Through the generosity of John Zulauf, an old member of the lodge, an oyster supper with the usual trimmings was served free to all in the dining room of the Ladies' Aid of the Christian church. T. W. Murphy had charge of the supper. Jacksonville, Ardenville, Merodasia, Chapin and Arcadia lodges were represented. Everything was free and everyone seemed to enjoy the entertainment and supper. The newly installed officers of the local lodge are as follows: Elmer Smith, N. G. Henry Senall, V. G. Hubert Wester, r. G. N. C. Caldwell, secretary.

Important Questions—
Have you ever had cause to doubt that you enjoy perfect vision? Do your eyes feel sore after a spell of close work—aching, smarting, or feeling as if sand or grit was lodged behind the lids? Do you ever, while reading, find that the print suddenly "goes misty" and confused? Is it necessary for you to hold your book or newspaper further away from the eyes that formerly——or do you need stronger light? Do you find that reading or sewing for an extra hour or two causes headaches?

If you have noticed any of these peculiarities with your eyes you should have them carefully examined. Call and see us at once.

STANDARD AMERICAN ANNUAL

The World Almanac is presented the American public for the thirty eighth year of its publication, improved in form, handier to consult, easier to read, better printed and on a better paper.

Readers who in constantly increasing numbers have testified to its value as a book of daily and constant reference will find the tables of statistics revised up to the latest possible date by heads in departments in the National Government, in the States, in the cities (and particularly in New York City), and by men of authority in banking, trade and industry, and in social, educational and religious activities throughout the country.

New statistical tables present the latest census figures regarding population, vital statistics and industries, which are supplemented by those of the Departments of Agriculture, Commerce, Labor, and the Interior, all setting forth in clear form the material growth of the Republic.

In addition, The World Almanac presents this year descriptions of several States of the Union and its dependencies, and description of all the foreign countries with their colonies and dependencies, carefully prepared in the most condensed form from the best available authorities here and abroad. Much of this material has been furnished or revised by the embassies, legations and consulates of the countries, concerned and by The World Almanac's correspondents abroad.

The record of the year 1922 is given with greater fullness than heretofore. The reader will find the carefully compiled chronology or diary of the year, the death roll, the benefactions, the record of scientific progress, the tariff law and other new and important laws the full election returns, and the complete sporting events and records to which he is accustomed. He will also find new features in authoritative reviews of the financial world and bond market, with the range of prices for stocks on the Exchange up to December 1, 1922; also special reviews of labor and strikes, American relief work in Europe, the great progress made in aviation, the creation of the Irish Free State, the rise of the Fascists; the platform of the British Labor Party, and in another field, reviews of the year in the book world, art, music and the drama, and in wireless telegraphy and telephony.

Big problems of the year past and the year beginning are presented in special articles which will be welcomed for quick reference as the day's news will demand. The Reparations Commission furnished the figures showing exactly what Germany has paid in cash and kind and what the armies of occupation have cost.

The exact figures of the inter-allied debts owed to the United States with unpaid interest are furnished by the Secretary of the Treasury. The treaties of the Washington Arms Conference are given in full with resultant effects on the great navies of the powers. The progress of the League of Nations shown by the secretariat. The statement of Soviet Russia's finances is that given out officially at the Hague. The essential points of the Soldiers' Bonus Bill are recorded, and so also are those of President Harding's message on the Ship Subsidy Bill, together with a statement of the affairs of the United States Shipping Board, and some facts on the enforcement of the Prohibition Law.

The World Almanac is published by The New York World. Price 50 cents, postpaid.
